

Fabuland®

3671

Maximillian Mouse works with his cousin, Morty, as the ground crew. Max, as everyone calls him, is very good with his hands.

Mortimer Mouse dreams of flying in Joe Crow's plane. He's very clever so perhaps he'll talk Joe into giving him flying lessons.

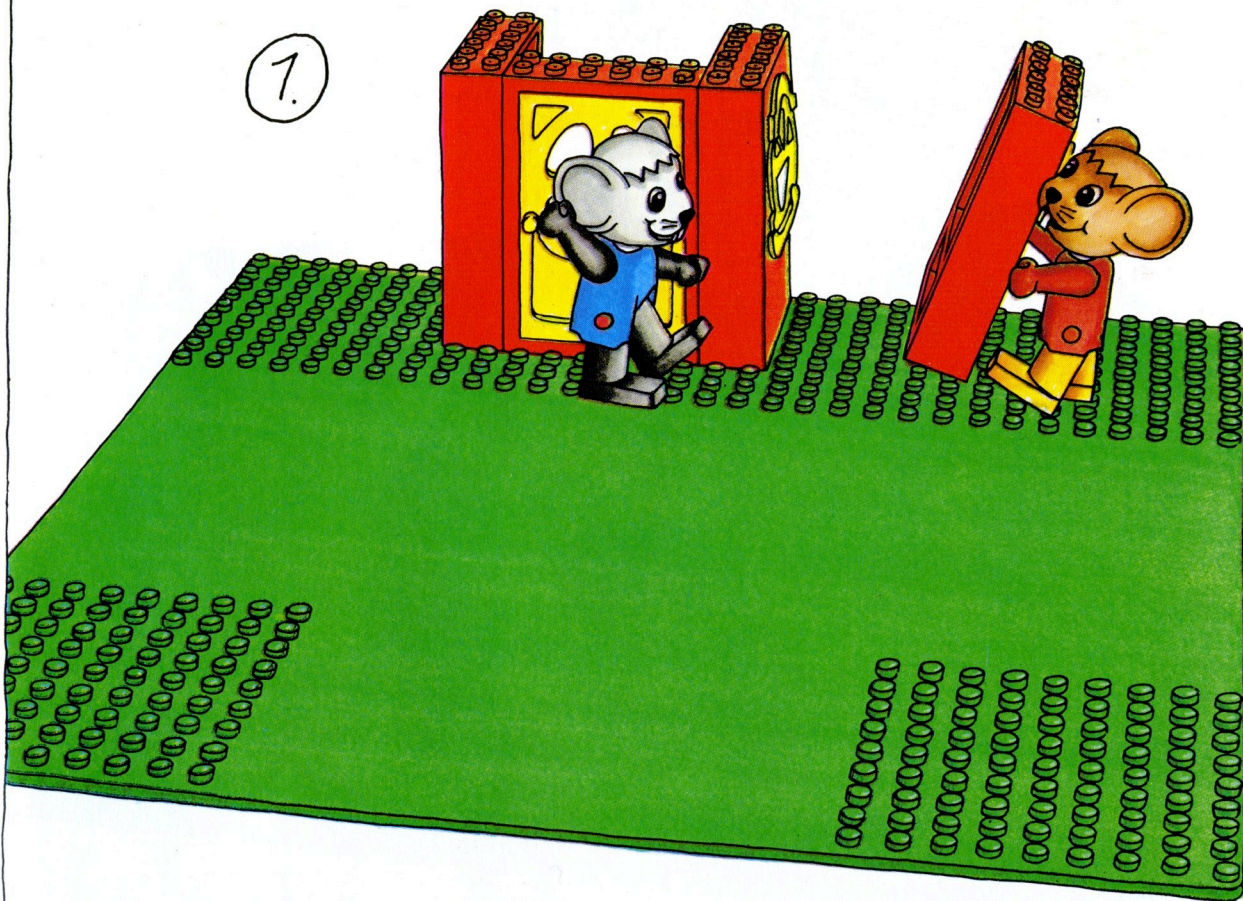

Joe Crow is a pilot. He flies his one-engine plane over the tree-tops of FABULAND®. He is very brave and daring.

"I wish I could fly a plane like Joe Crow", said Mortimer Mouse.

"Maybe if we build an airport, he'll give lessons", said cousin Max.

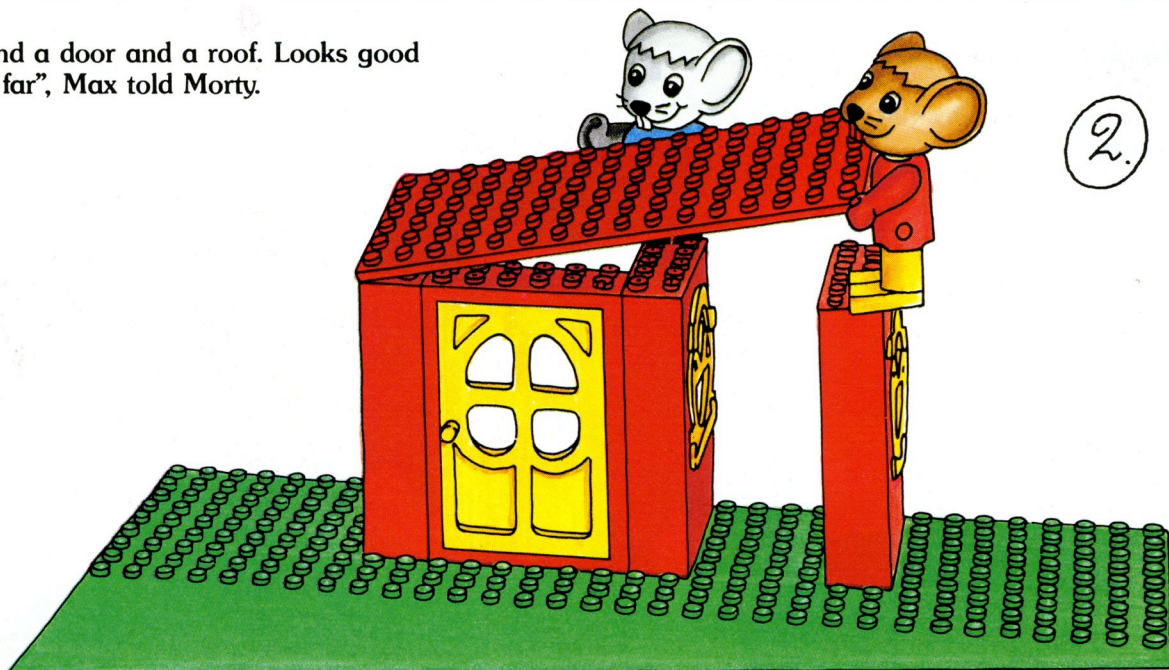

"Then let's get started, Max. Here's a wall", said Morty eagerly.

7.

"And a door and a roof. Looks good so far", Max told Morty.

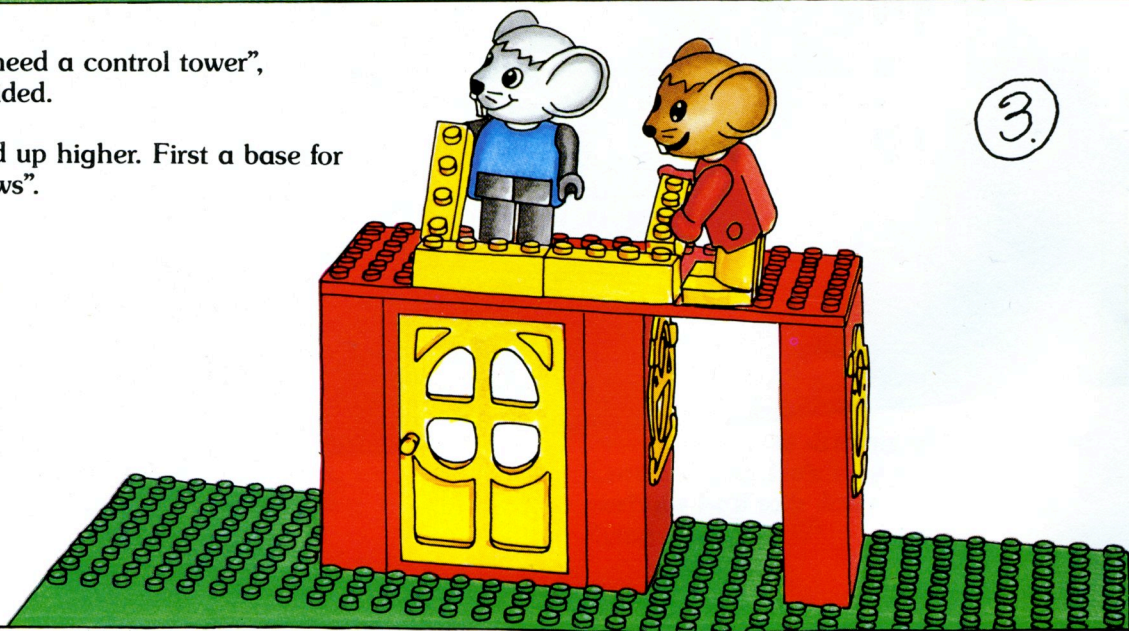

2.

"Now we need a control tower",
Morty decided.

"Let's build up higher. First a base for the windows".

3.

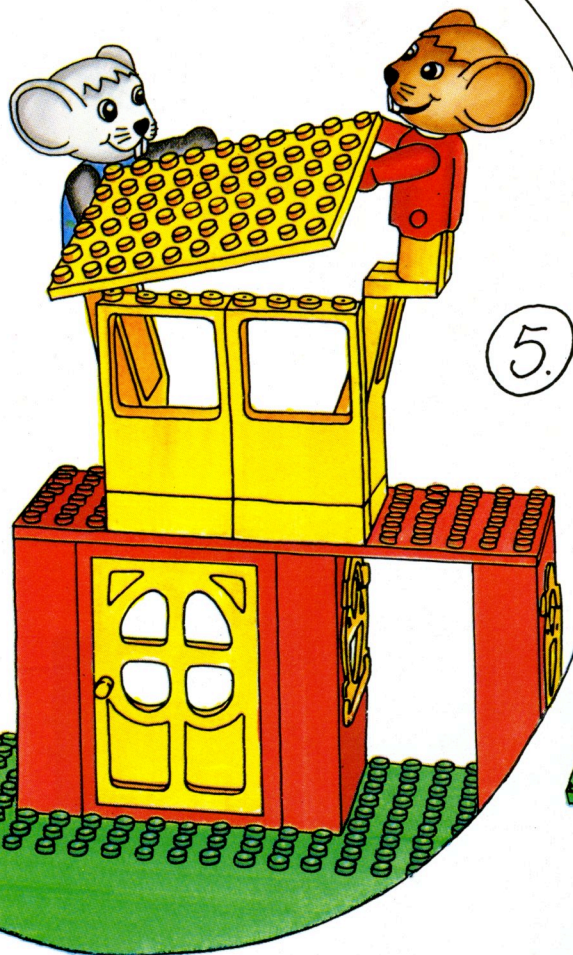

"With these windows up here, I can see for miles around", said Max.

"Great. You can direct the air traffic when I fly", Morty said happily.

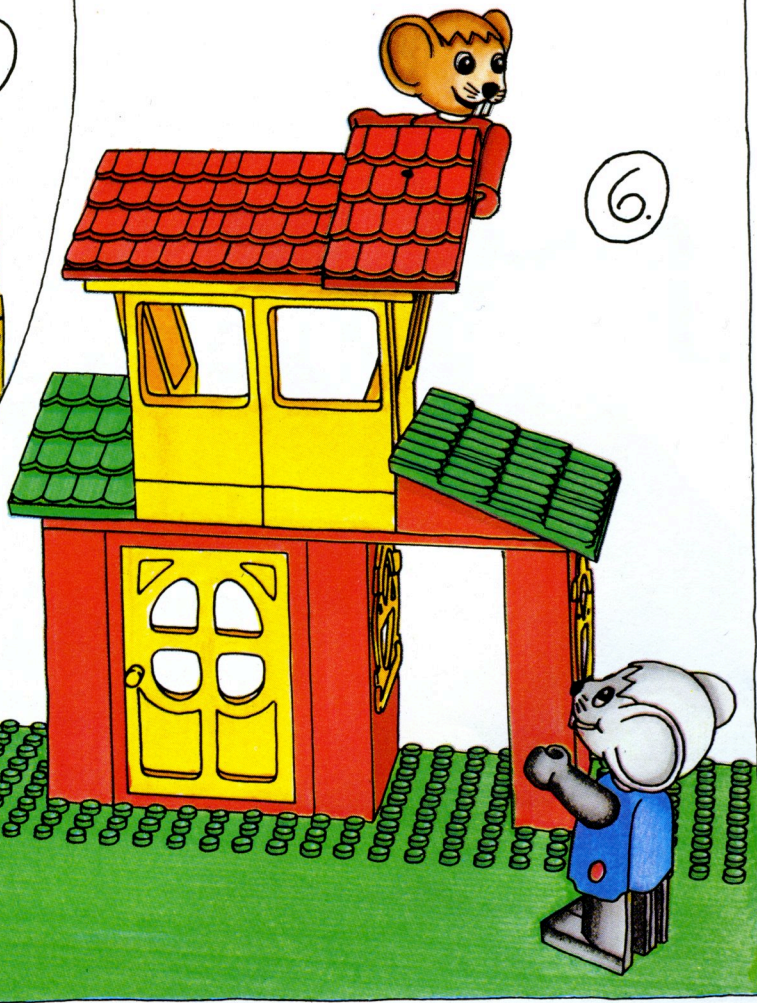

4.

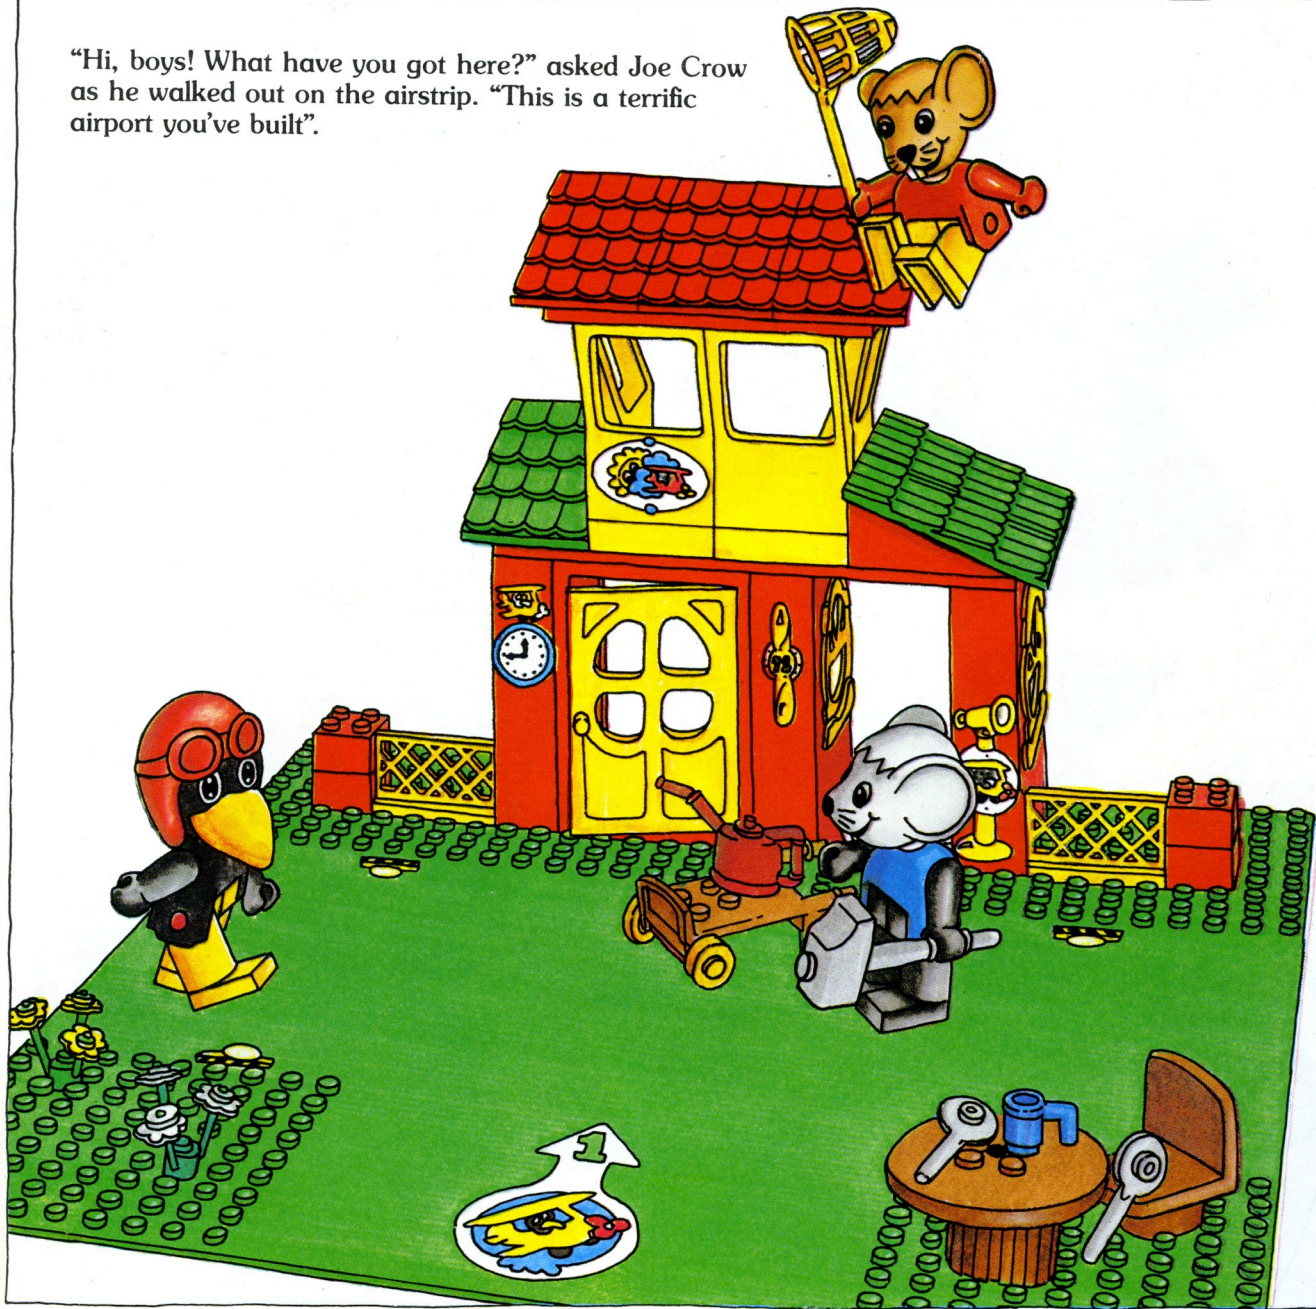

"Do you really think Joe will teach you to fly?" Max asked as they began work on the roof.

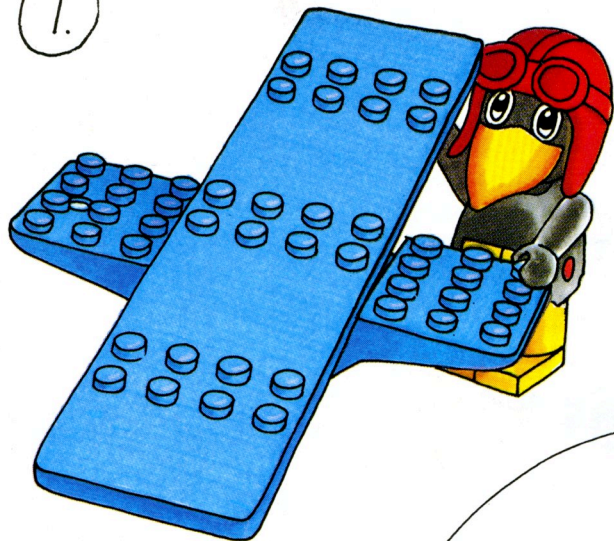

"How can he say no when he sees this terrific new airport?" Morty replied.

"Hi, boys! What have you got here?" asked Joe Crow as he walked out on the airstrip. "This is a terrific airport you've built".

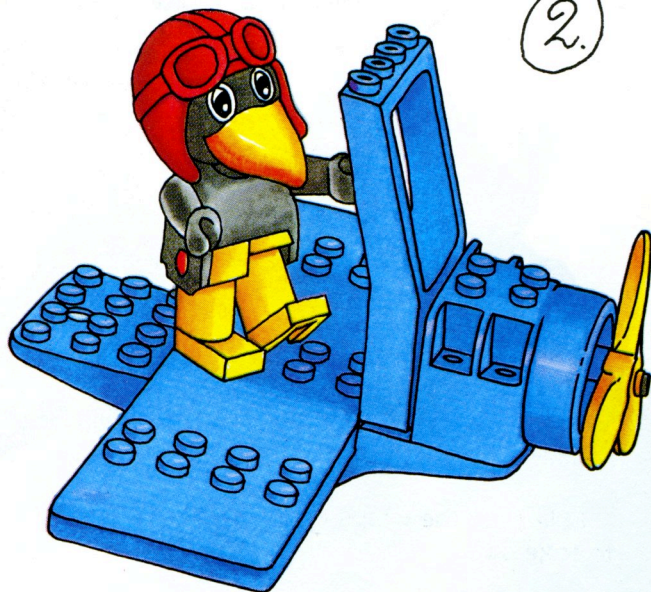

1.

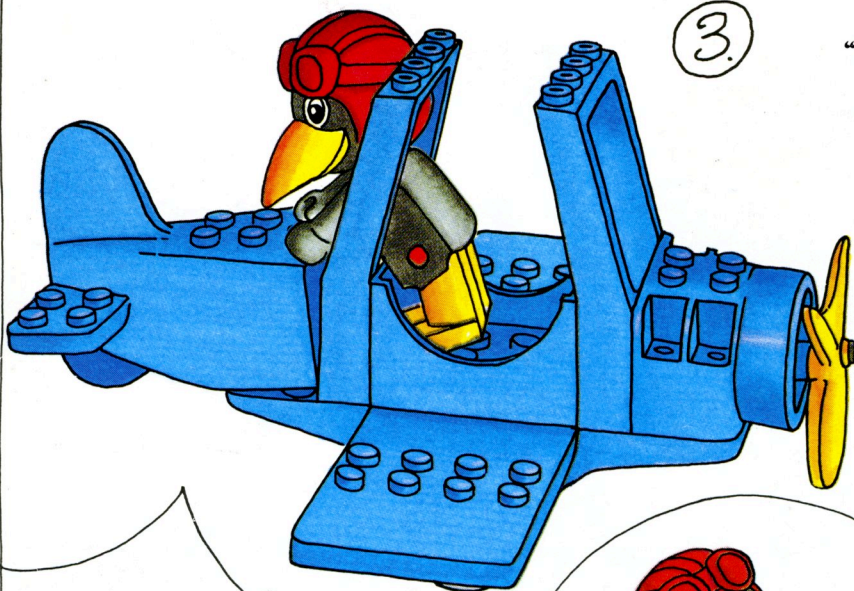

"Let me get my plane together and try out the runway", said Joe.

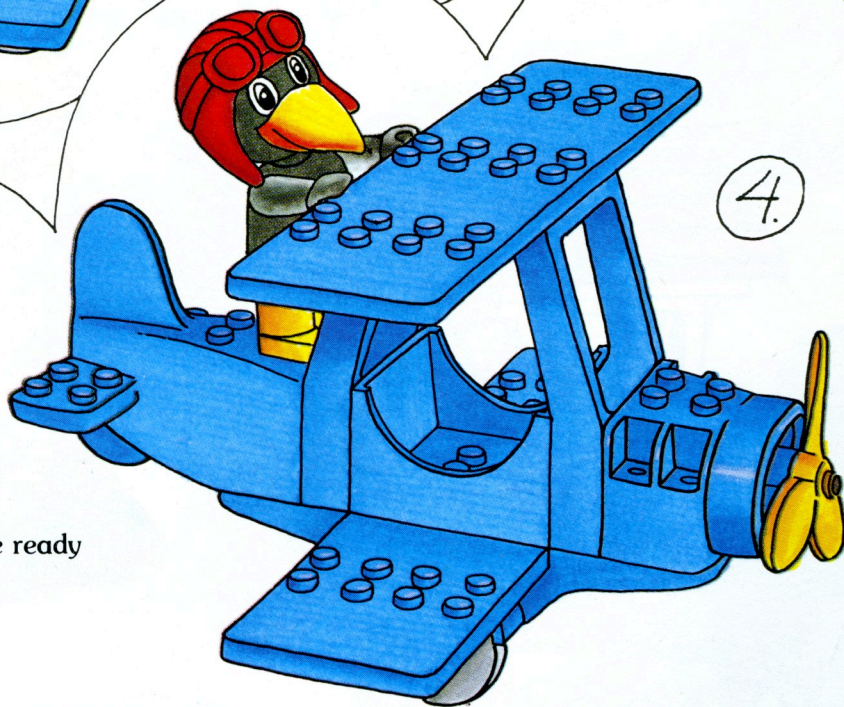

2.

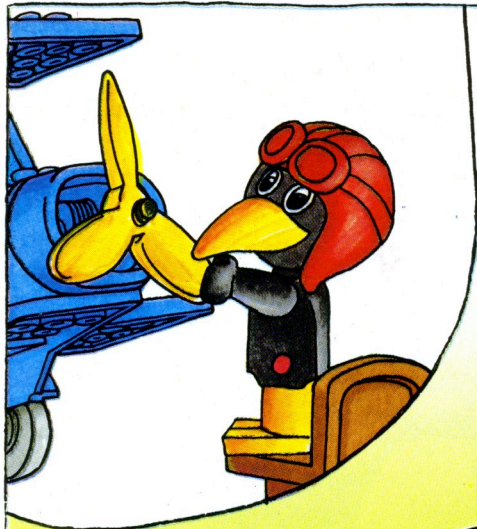

"First the engine. Then the windscreen",
Joe began.

"Next the cockpit. And the tail".

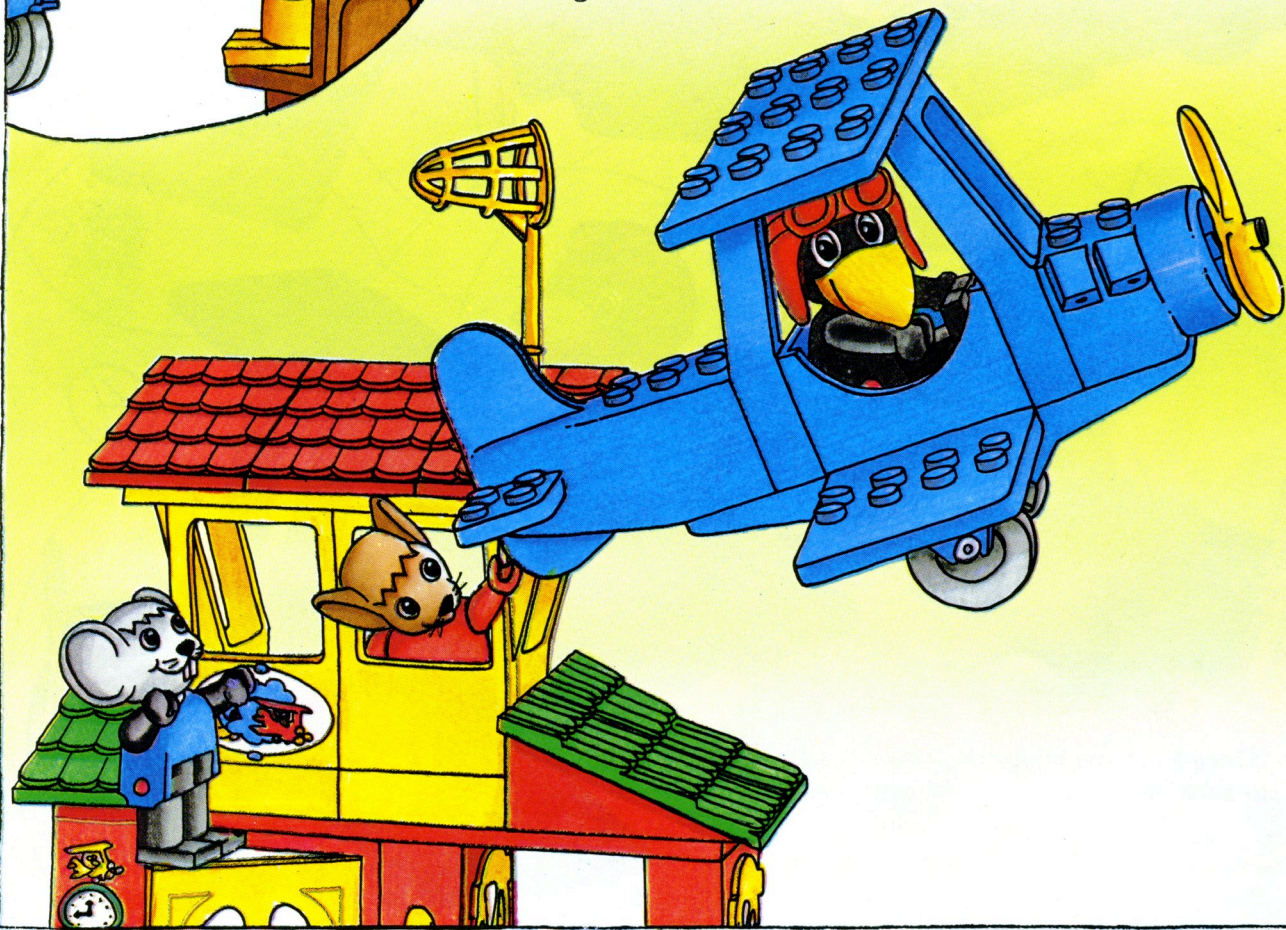

"Once I get the wings on, I'll be ready to take off".

"Rev up the engine. You can be my ground crew", said Joe.

"But Joe, I want to fly too!" Morty shouted over the engine's roar.

"Sorry, I fly solo. There's only room for one," Joe called down.
SPUT-SPUT-SPUT! KERPUTT!!!
- The engine stopped.

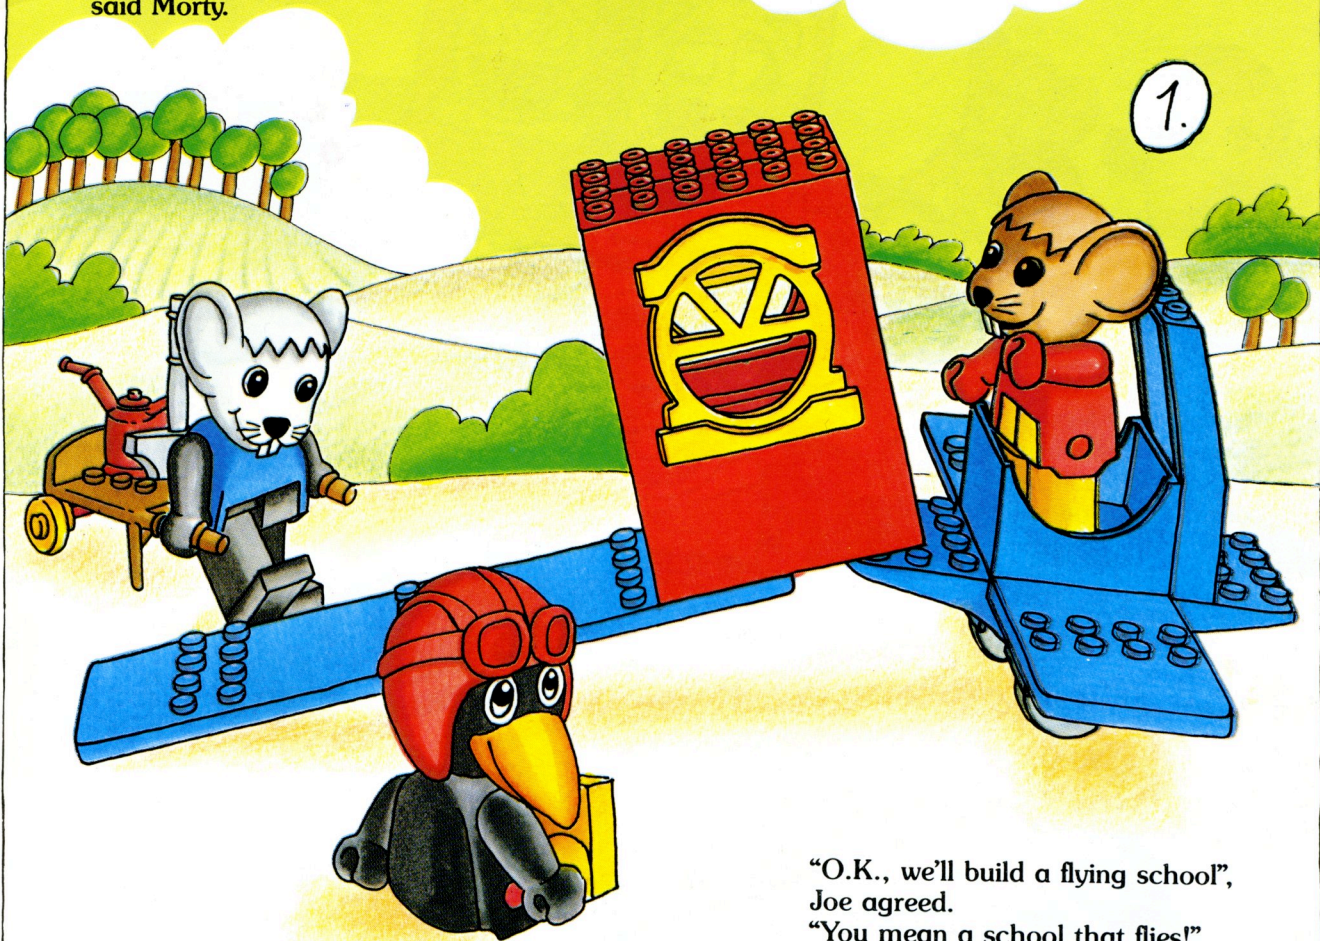

"Help me, boys! I'm in trouble!"
Joe cried.
"I'm going to crash!"

But he didn't. The ground crew brought Joe's plane down safely.

"How can I ever thank you?" asked Joe.
"Just give us flying lessons", Morty answered.
"Aren't you afraid after what happened?" Joe asked.
"Not if we're all up there together to help",
said Morty.

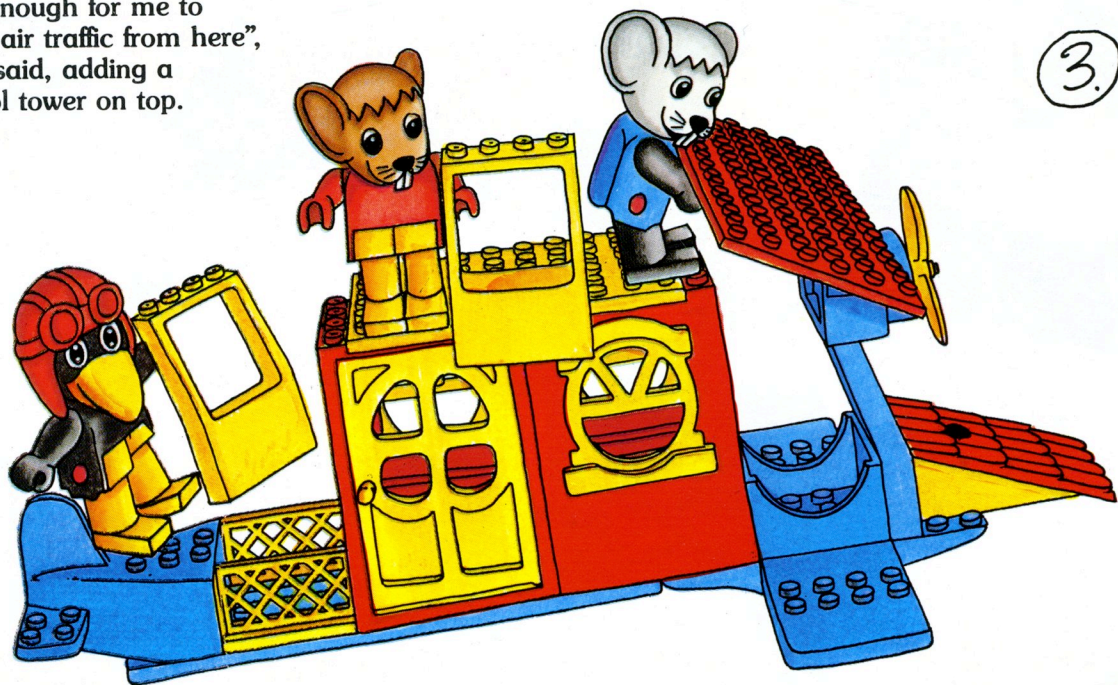

1.

"O.K., we'll build a flying school",
Joe agreed.
"You mean a school that flies!"
laughed Morty.

"I've got it all designed",
Morty told them.
"We raise the engine and make the cabin bigger".

"Big enough for me to direct air traffic from here", Mike said, adding a control tower on top.

The new jumbo plane was ready,
"Flight engineer Max Mouse to Pilot, ready for take-off", Max called out.

"Take her up, Morty", Joe said. "I'm here to help". "Yes Captain", Morty smiled.
An up, up and away they all flew.

